WE NOMINATE

James Ward Smith and Albert Leland Jamison, able teachers and scholars, out of whose teaching has emerged one of the major scholarly undertakings of the decade—a series of volumes adding a new dimension to Americans' grasp of what has often been called "The American Phenomenon." As editors of the four-volume "Religion in American Life," Smith, a member of the Princeton University Faculty since 1946, and Jamison, a former Princetonian and now chairman of Syracuse University's Department of Religion, have with support from the Carnegie Foundation carried to near-completion a project envisioned in the 1940's and described by The New York Times as "the most ambitious publishing venture in its field in the 20th century."

Where American scholarship in the 1890's produced the staggering (13 volumes), and yet narrowly concentrated, "American Church History Series," Smith and Jamison, and their associated humanists, social scientists and theologians, have approached their topic with "over-all perspective." Rather than limiting themselves to a history of American religion in the conventional sense, they have roamed far and wide in embracing "all of those interests and activities which have to do, however indirectly, with the life of man as a spiritual being, man in terms of his ultimate significance."

The idea for the far-reaching enterprise originated with the 45-year old Smith who in 1947 as an Assistant Professor of Philosophy was asked to organize and direct the upperclass seminar annually offered by Princeton's Special Program in American Civilization. After rejecting several possibilities, he suggested "Religion in American Life" as a subject meeting two essential criteria. First, it must possess appeal for the nine academic departments participating in the Special Program and, second, it must be concerned with an aspect of American life which has not been adequately covered in existing literature.

Smith, now en route for Europe to divide the next academic year between study at the American Academy in Rome and teaching at Oxford University, first offered his seminar in 1948-49. Its impact topped even the most sanguine expectations and strengthened Smith's conviction that here was a hardly ploughed area in which publication was "definitely desirable." He etched the broad outline for the series and enlisted Jamison's assistance, thereby launching a partnership that for the past seven years has been maintained over extended lines of communication with Jamison, Princeton based from 1941 until 1954, serving initially as "Religion Chairman" at Macalester College, Minnesota, and in recent years at Syracuse.

Both Smith and the Missouri-born Jamison, who will be celebrating his 50th birthday this month, are among the nine contributors to the brilliantly conceived Volume I, "The Shaping of American Religion." Smith discusses one of his primary interests, "Religion and Science in American Philosophy," while Jamison depicts "Religions on the Christian Perimeter." To their work, whether in library or classroom, these perceptive collaborators bring the understanding they gained in the Pacific during World War II—Jamison as a chaplain with the Air Corps and Smith as a Navy beach-master who won seven battle stars.

For hoping through their efforts to spur more thorough research in areas of first importance to Americans concerned with preserving their rich inheritance; for charting contemporary religious trends in a nation which has embraced almost every conceivable tendency, idea and ideal in religion; these are TOWN TOPICS' nominees for

"OPEN SPACES" REPORTS
Goddard Submits Plan to Township. The Township's Open Space Committee submitted to the Planning Board its pre-tion to discuss the problem of preserving

The committee has not recommended specific parcels of land for acquisition, but it has only suggested guideline principles and methods and has set certain stand-

TWO DIE IN WRECK: Two Princeton residents died early yesterday morning after their car, in which they were riding, struck a tree on Rosedale Road. The victims were Mrs.
Jane A. McGrath and Keith Simpson. Story, this page.
(Staff Photo)

One of the chief recommendations of the committee is for dollar limits on the amount of land that the Township may prohibit building on in the flood plain.

"If this principle is adopted," said James Saver, chairman of the committee, "the Township will serve a positive community purpose even though it may still be in private ownership."

Mr. Saver pointed out, however, that there may be areas in the flood plain which would not be suitable for residential use and should be used by residents of the community as a park or "ramble." He remarked that, even at this early stage of planning, the Township had been offered the gift of some flood plain land.

Township in The Lead Commenting on the work of the committee, Paul V. Wegener, president of the New Jersey Broad-millstone Watershed Association, said that the Township is "leading the way" in the open space program. He said that the committee members had been "very thorough" in their study of the problem, and the preliminary report is impressive. Its thoroughness and existing lie to its expectations." Mr. Van Wegener said.

SEND A PHOTOGRAPHER quickly—Harry's Brook is in our garage! That was the telephone call to TOWN TOPICS Saturday morning as a cloud-burst drenched Princeton with three inches of rain. TOWN TOPICS' photographer took a picture (right), shovel of Sarah and Linda Law at 98 Random Road where Harry's Brook had, indeed, not only invaded the garage but tramped all over theirs and neighboring lawns. Same day, a part of the sidewalk on Main Street was washed out—when the sun returned, the sight drew two sidewalk superintendents in the person of David and Mary Keele, 350 Riverside Drive. In another part of town, Stony Brook took a turn across the fields and across Quaker Road, closing it to traffic—as usual. (Staff Photo.)

TOPICS Of the Town

THE RAINS CAME

Floods. Damage in Wet July. Four more inches of rain falling in the last 72 hours of July made it the wettest month on record in U.S. Weather Bureau statistics for Princeton area. A total of 10.72 inches was recorded, surpassing by fractions an inch the marks set in 1919 and 1921.

Actually Princeton itself has been water-logged in July, according to statistics given by the Princeton Water Co. That was in 1958; when 11.52 inches were recorded here.

Saturday's rain, which began in pre-dawn hours and had left 3.1 inches by noon, flooded most of Princeton. Hurricane Donna last September, according to the report, This was so because the heavy winds had torn off the roofs of the houses in the residential areas, whereas last week, it merely came straight down.

The damage was last seen greater, at least two houses on Harriet Drive were severely ravaged Saturday by a rampaging Harry's Brook. No estimate of loss has been made but houses belonging to Anna E. Wells, 61 Harriet and Robert S. Christie, 67 Harriet, were severely damaged and are rebuilding at the foundations.

Basement damage. Mr. Wells' house, the more severely damaged of the two, will require the entire stretch of the 55-foot north wall to be rebuilt. The Christie home's basement included plumbing fixtures, blankets and winter clothing and food.

The foot of the brook was far more than its normal channel could contain, and it burst at the point where it crossed its two-mile course. It was extreme pressure from the overflowing water that caved in the foundations of the Harriet Drive homes.

Other damage was more negligible, and we least Princeton than in nearby communities. For example, Monday's rain caused a hole in the Windsor Township farm in the rear part of an hour before a drop fell in Princeton.

During the night, a trailer-truck jacked up on U.S. 1 at Clarksville without causing immediate damage, but a passing struck Manning's Wayside Inn, Route 1 near Lawrenceville. No damage was reported.

Canoes took to turbulent Stony Brook for excitement and not without regret. Police found a boat capsized and broken against a tree or submerged stump, and a TOWN TOPICS classified ad noted that the boat was in its entirety after capsizing.

Meanwhile, the humidity was past 90 percent, though both generally fell short of the 90's last week. One such thermometer reading was 88° at 10:30 a.m. (89°); the lowest maximum was 83 and during most of the day the temperature never dropped below 78.

Soggy Princetonians had an idea thought for the immediate future: a return of the many puddles and pools of stagnant water $5000 a maximum of $800 property tax collection.

The council will introduce an ordinance to accept streets in Riverside West. It will receive bids for the construction of a new bridge across the Riverside-Nassau-Cedar Lane Prospect area and introduce assessments on the Prospect Street extension.

Also on the agenda are the report of the deputy tax collector on delinquent property taxes, a report of the Borough-Township Dept. Committee. Continued on Page 4

THE ART OF SELLING

by Wilford A. Peterson

When everybody sells—goods, services and ideas move faster, and prosperity is achieved.

Selling is not limited to people called salesmen, for we all have something to sell, and that includes you!

When everybody sells we create a mental and emotional climate of friendliness and good will that makes buying a joyous, happy adventure.

Customers are won and held through a multitude of acts and attitudes. Here are some of the things that represent the art of selling at its best:

Courteous words instead of sharp retorts.

Smiles instead of blank looks.

Enthusiasm instead of dullness.

Response instead of indifference.

Warmth instead of coldness.

Understanding instead of the closed mind.

Attention instead of neglect.

Patience instead of irritation.

Sincerity instead of sham.

Consideration instead of annoyance.

Remembering people instead of forgetting them.

Facts instead of arguments.

Creative ideas instead of the humdrum.

Helpfulness instead of hindrance.

Giving instead of getting.

Action instead of delay.

Appreciation instead of apathy.

Everyone selling together blends hearts and minds and spirits, as the musicians in an orchestra harmonize musical tones, to create a mighty symphony of prosperity.

Let's earn more business by deserving the business we have.

Let's roll out the red carpet for the most important person in the world...the customer.

Let's everybody sell!

Question of the Week

Question: Do you think you get punished too often, or not enough?

Where asked: Harrison Street playground, Princeton.

Bobby Markson, 11, 16 Harrison Street: Too often, because I always get into trouble. They send me upstairs—but I always sneak down again.

Wayne Carter, 12, 44 Markham Road: I don't get punished much, but I'm glad if I never get caught.

Tom Carroll, 12, 33 Nassau Street: Not enough. My father's not home. I get away with murder.

Pam Hanley, 11, 17 Polson Street: Only when my family is not there right. When I do something really wrong, I get yelled at, but otherwise it's pretty good.

Mark L. Anderson, 9, 45 Main Avenue: Too often. I just don't like punishments. They send me up to my room. I know a boy who wants to run up to his room when he gets punishes because he has a TV set up there.

Lorraine Buttigie, 12, 55 Fisher Avenue: Well, I think my mother gets mad at me and my sister, Debbie. Most of the time, she lets Daddy take over. Then we're in trouble again.

Jack Roberti, 10, 34 Wilton Street: Too often. Usually it's just little things, things you usually wouldn't notice, like forgetting to carry the garbage can back in. And a couple of times I was too late for supper.

Nancy Marzurum, 16, 40 Wilton Street: I wouldn't say too often, certainly. I think my parents are pretty fair with me.

Chris Schmidt, 14, 40 Cedar Lane: My mother doesn't punishe me enough. Why, I don't know.

Robin Carlson, 12, 56 Nassau Street: Too often, because my sister and I are always fighting and my mother sends us to our room. It's usually my sister's fault, too.

Peter Sweeney, 9, 54 Cedar Avenue: I guess not enough. I get away with a lot with my Mother. I get off easy with her but not with my Dad.

Jerry Flakane, 12, 50 Fisher Avenue: I don't get punished too often. I help around the house a lot, and I help my mother if he is doing something.

Scott Rohrer, 13, 45 Prince Avenue: In between; it's not too much one way or the other.

Chris Schmid, 14, 40 Cedar Lane: My mother doesn't punishe me enough. Why, I don't know.

IT'S NEW To Us

LISTEN HERE

Poulen and Presley. The new of the new Elvis Presley album is "Something for Everybody." We heard it exclusively on a recent visit to the music department at the University Store and came to the realization that this is what we are not. Everman.

There are also two new Sings-Along albums. "Sing Along With Me" and the other "Come Swing With Me." Columbia has put out one of them and Sinatra's "A Big Surprise" has put out the second and apparently some breezy concert action is ahead because of the "Swingin' Singers." Buy both and play it neutral.

Chubby Checker's "Twist LP" is now out, and so is a collection of single hits by the Shirelles, massed together in one record. The Four Brothers provide for "Both Sides of an Evening"—fun and relaxation.

Edith Garland is the store favorite on University Place. Her two-record Carnegie Hall album is the current favorite of most of the time but you'll hear Cannonball Adderley's "Afrikan Waltz," too. And the "Never On Sunday" sound track continues to outsell them all.

Folk collectors will want Joan Baez' album of Mexican, Appalachian, English and goodness knows what else old songs. The Longhorns will remember them from their visit here with Mort Sahl, who "Tonight" in Person.

More on the folkie shelf, we find a recording of Poulen's "Gloria" for soprano, choir and orchestra recorded by Rossini's "The Barber of Seville" French Radio and TV Chorus and Georges Pretre. (He's the conductor.) This is the work of the year, already a best-seller. The recording is French.

John Sutherland, the soprano who has been dazzling all the critics, has a set of two 12-inch LP's called "The Art of the Soprano." Don't miss when she sings illuminative excerpts from several operas. Our favorite record at the U-Store, this summer of 1961, was "Watussi" by the band led in the Louisiana State Penitentiary at Angola and published by the Louisiana Folklore Society. When you get it you get not a ball and chain but a severe mimeographed brochure 23 pages long containing the lyrics for all the songs on the record. It's more entertaining than you might think.

Incidentally, the U-Store suggests that you get busy and practice for your vacation. But a regular for $24. If you're a beginner, or invent $125 or more for a Martin, if

B-Bass!
Want to be a one-man band?

The University Store is equipped to outfit all one-man bands with a double bass called "B-Bass." You isn't sure which bass which incorporates all the best features of drum, cymbals, bells, bass and mutes, plus.

The bass, priced at a cool $49.95, stands upright even foot tall and rests from a padded stick bottom that gives it lots of spring. A single string, the length of the instrument, allows for a double bass trigger for a ham-mer that beats the drum and cymbal on plain strokes. A carved wooden devil, painted red, oversees the operations and wears on his head a hat, a bow tie and bells. With it all comes a toothed wooden saw which cuts wood.

The University Department of the U-Store has only one regret: "If only we'd had them Reunion weekend!"

You're ready to make your own folk song recordings. Bongos, recorders, harmonicas and accordian music. An hour each day. Every day. When you're ready to be a folk singer, the men's wear department will sell you a shirt to leave open down the front.

PUT ME ON TAPE, TOO.
The Price Is Right. For kids, who like to have fun at home or outdoors, you might like to know whether the sound of a stereo carries more weight than a messbag sermon on a blackboard. The Photomicrograph Art Center, 100 Nassau has a sassy little transistor tape recorder.

Impertinent, isn't it? The recorder is simply itself, operating without volume control, but it does have a switch and concerning itself only with an on-off switch and a couple of absurd little reels the size of typewriter ribbons. When it's case is plastic and weighs about as much as your voice. You won't get very far reading. Walk around the Record even Ninth on it, but for $29.

On up the family tree a branch or two, you'll find Concord tape recorders in mono-$139 or stereo-$179, and Westmank for $125. Tape recorders are a good buy. There are a line for Photography and Art, by the way. Ray-Lux has a $22 transmitter which you can carry in your wallet or plug into a $14 table-size speaker.

HOW DOES YOUR KITCHEN RATE?

Have your cabinets lost their beauty appeal?

Do you wish you had a wall oven so you could look your roast beef right in the eye?

Does your counter top have that worn-out look?

Do you need a ventilator over the range to keep the family from knowing "what's cooking" all over the house?

Is the lighting over your sink and work areas sufficient to prevent eye strain?

Does the lack of a small counter neat to the oven send you walking around with a hot casserole in your hands looking for a place to put it down?

Do you have enough counter space next to the refrigerator for your shopping bundles?

Does insufficient cabinet space mean that you are the only one who knows where anything is?

Are the refrigerator and the range more than six feet from the sink?

If you have eight or nine "no" answers, your kitchen is nearly perfect; if you have less than eight "no" answers, your kitchen needs help!

in one of England's most vital cities. It comes from the same angry and maniacal which produced "Room at the Top," presenting a picture of a complicated type of rebellion.

The star, Arthur (Albert Finney), is a little worker in a Nottinghamshire factory; he does odd little work, in fact, because he doesn't like the conventionality of society in general; one of such requires him to work, however, and he has a secret, an adulterous affair with a co-worker's wife (Rachael Roberts). He is cast by his family, however, to a relatively commonplace girl.

—but in another sense he never gets to work.

Karl Malden has directed the film at a good pace, giving a feeling for the atmosphere of the English working-class worker's life. While Finney's portrayal is not wholly convincing (possibly not his fault), this is offset by the fine job by the two women. In addition Hylda Baker stands out at the hero's shrewd and worldly taunts.

Tiger Bay — August 7-12 would be better than a tame British chase film if it were not for the talent of Hayley Mills, the appealing young girl who made such a hit in "The Parent Trap" and "The Parent Trap." Actually, "Tiger Bay" is a weaker film than its predecessor, though the Dino De Laurentiis productions which are rapidly making her as popular with the younger set as Shirley Temple or Margaret O'Brien once were.

In "Tiger Bay," Miss Mills is not permitted to make her mark, but she still manages to come close to stealing the show from two more experienced performers, John Mills and Horst Buchholz.

This is possible because Miss Mills, as always, happens to be in such scenes as the chunky Buchholz accidentally murder his daughter. This makes Gillies a very important individual for both the film and the police (represented primarily by John Mills as a Superintendent).

Korchnayev chases Gillies and the police chase both of them through the multi-racial district of the port known as Little Italy. But finally they get to a thrilling shipboard climax.

The Rank production was directed by J. Lee Thompson.

movie camera for $79, a pocket book, and just about the same size, Kodak's new "Kodamatic" cameras drops down to $44.50, and of course there's the Brownie movie camera for $27.

Color processing direct from Kodak is now available at the store, by the way, two days for a 24-exposure and monochrome four to live a Robert Roberts prints.

TV breaks down, maybe 8 miles from home and projector and watch Alan Shepard's zoom, Wm. Fields or Abbott and Costello—three for $1 for 24 hours, plus projector rental.

About short Joan Drew has some exuberant pieces in the gallery part of the Photo, Painting and Art Center, including pinups and raspberries confection which is designed called "Exuberant City." We liked the long string one, the short string one, the long and the splendid, glowing golden canvas called simply "Sun."

Elizabeth Menies sends along a woodcut, "Wash In," which unfolds a distinctive pattern against an inky sky. A portfolio of Miro, "Constellations," is designed to be sold singly, and the price per print is priced at $25 to $40. A similar Klee portfolio is somewhat less, per print.

Do it yourself! Pastels blend the qualities of oil and pastel into one crayon, leaving the inspiration up to you. A box of 12 is $6, a box of 50 is $3.50.

SCHOOL? What a Ridiculous Idea! Nevertheless, Bamberger's junior and teen departments assume that time is inexorable and that the opening day of classes will indeed come. They are assuming a collection of young sports-clothes based largely on brilliant colors, in every shade from bright yellow to pale frosted magenta, green and blue plaid and black and white mixtures stirred in with red.

Everything is soft and easy to look dignified in, lots of long overhanging and tuneful feet and those kookie sweaters to wear with pants. We Jumpers have a pulled-down silhouette, and some of the dropped waistlines end with a small bow. The sleeves are very short, and the new ones are flared out with the "A" line. In fact, with sweaters so long, you can't even tell you really get a sweater with a ruffle on the bottom.

Weeks are particularly popular in the Bamberger junior sweater department. Given the traditional classics now available, this neckline is in evidence, too, sometimes fringed to match the fringe on the coat.

Now, ladies' car coats are longer than last year in chrome, no fins, and the latest coat gets the most of ear in place, prepositions are being worn, too. Cotton shell sacks are back with stretchable shells, and there are three laminated jerseys that have been so popular in raincoats. The car coats are designed to be worn that are as lively as anything under the coat, by the way.

So, in color, too, in stretch pants and button-down basic slacks, Bamberger's says definitely, that this is "definitely a fashion for the young and those with a GOOD future, get the hint!"

SEA SURFACES
Fossil Found. An aggressive fossil, which resembles a sea urchin, has been found by students in their rock hounding for summer. The fossil, which is 75 million years ago, has been discovered in the marshes of Glassboro, N.J., and identified by Donald Bard, assistant curator of vertebrate paleontology at Princeton as Mosaarium maximum.

Another Mosaarium had been found in the same area about two months ago, but this one is older, in better shape and considerably more complete. This fossil, which is 100 million years old, consists of small bones and various other bits and pieces which this one has.

The newest Mosaarium had been found about 40 feet long, with an elongated body, a long tail, a pointed jaw, and two pairs of flippers. During Cretaceous times, the Mosaarium roamed the coastal marshes much of New Jersey, and at one time, he and his relatives were the most numerous and aggressive of all the sea urchins.

SOME OVERSIZE DENTAL WORK: Mosaarium maximum, a 40-foot sea urchin which used to roam New Jersey, is temporarily in residence in the paleontology laboratory, Geotop Hall, where it will live for five feet long, and is the protective matrix of marl for 75 million years. Dr. Donald Bard, left, assisted curator of vertebrate paleontology at Princeton, and Frank Gold, a conservation technician, will carefully remove the fossil from its ancient bed. Then Mosaarium will go to the Museum of Natural History, New York, for supporting iron work, and finally to the New Jersey State Museum, Trenton, where it will be put on permanent display. (Staff Photo)

The fossil parts which the Mosaarium have been found are being worked by the Industrial Company for green sand molds with which to make a water softener. The bones were removed with their protective matrix of mud, casein, broken with hurlan, paper and plaster of Paris and transferred to the paleontology laboratory. Some of the casts were hoisted out of the 32-foot pit which had been dug by hand because there are no heavy equipment.

Frank Gold, technician at Princeton's paleontology lab, has been working on the fossils from the east, carefully piecing all traces of marl and treating the bones with preservatives. The casts will then be assembled for exhibition at the state museum in Trenton.

DIRECTORY DISTRIBUTED

To LAWRENCE Residents:
1961 Lawrence Township Directory. It is being distributed to Township Democratic workers among residents as an aid to public understanding of their neighbors and their interests.

The directory has been completely revised to provide the names and addresses of all local government agencies, their members and meeting places, and Mayor Owen H. Healey, a candidate for reelection this year. The booklet contains facts helpful to citizens who want to play an active role in local public affairs.

Also included in the directory is a map of the township showing all streets, numbered ways and indicating the position of schools, industry, firehouses, police stations, and other points of interest. A brief history of Lawrence Township is also included.

MEMBERSHIPS AVAILABLE
In Woman's Club. Applications for membership in the Woman's Club of Princeton may be obtained from the club's new Steering Committee chair, Mrs. Frederick Klopp of 140 Prospect Street, or from three present members are required.

Recently, the club's membership has increased to over 200, meetings will be held at the new Shiring Club beginning in September. The program committee for the coming year is headed by Mrs. Harlan Mills of 100 Prospect Street, Mrs. Kimball Mrs. William MacCallum and Mrs. Joseph S. Thomas.

Other committee chairmen are Mrs. J. Fred Fisher, budget

Squad Plans Own Building
Under the chairmanship of Albert Toto, the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad will begin its annual fund drive this Saturday, Sept. 1. The building, which will be incorporated in the new squad house, will be the third in the last 10 years. The Squad Ladies Auxiliary is working on money-raising projects for the building.

The organization hopes to break ground for the building this year. "Help us to help others," the slogan on the appeal to be mailed early in September. Those who do not receive a mailing confirmation may make contributions through Mr. Toto at 15 Harris Road.

RUG CO. SPACE LEASED
By RCA Division. A three-story building, Broad Street, Hightstown, owned by the Hightstown Rug Company, has been leased to the Astro-Electric Co. for $10,000 a month for three years. RCA will take over the first floor in September and occupation of the entire building is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

The building became available after the company began construction of Hightstown Rug's new plant in East Windsor Township. About 200 RCA employees are expected to be working in Hightstown within six months.

The RCA Space Center, responsible for the development of TIROS and other satellites, is moving into a new environmental facility on 11th and Princeton Hightstown Road, where a new space environment test center will be built.

Report from THE MAYOR

A Warm Welcome. On Sunday evening the Mayor was privileged, on behalf of the community, to extend a welcome to Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred D. Tyson and their four children.

The Rev. Mr. Tyson has come from Prudential, B. I., to serve as pastor of the Mt. Pisgah AME Church. Representatives of many organizations in Princeton extended to the Tysons the best wishes of a town which recognizes the many great religious faiths represented here.

That First Day, Borough Clerk Bob Mooney returned to Borough Hall on Monday after two weeks of vacation leave. On his first day back at his important post, Mr. Bob became ill and found himself in Princeton Hospital. All of us wish him speedy and complete recovery as we ponder his hospital-bed comment: "I rested long."

Outdoor Phones? Our recommendation of the engineering department to the Borough Council to consider the installation of outdoor telephone booths in the Borough's off-the-beaten-path areas did not receive the kind of comment we had welcome in weighing the proposal. The units would cost about $100 each. But, we might even add a few dollars of revenue.

Eight Percent. At the agenda preparation session of Mayor and Council, consideration was given to possible drafting of an ordinance to increase the Borough's established policy of charging eight per cent interest on overdue taxes.

The law, as it stands, state law, in the absence of any specific local determination, may, in the eyes of some, be appropriate, especially for long-deferred payments, but some believe that we need a policy that would temper the severity of such charges, for wantonfulness or absence from town causes them to overlook the payment for a week or more. As they stand, the Collector has no alternative to imposing the penalty, even where the cost of collecting a tiny amount is far outweigh the few cents involved.

Exchange of Views. The Borough governing body has been having a very fruitful exchange of views with representatives of the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council with respect to the future of our off-street parking problem. The objectives seem rather similar; though some of us are not too enthusiastic about the creation of an off-street parking space monopoly with power to borrow and spend money outside the normal controls and safeguards imposed by regular Borough procedures.

INSTITUTE OPENS HOUSE

On the first day of its experimental research model, the first cost homes will be opened shortly on Route 206 by the Institute of Essential Housing. The models are located between Kammier Buick-Pontiac and the 206 Center.

A nonprofit organization, the Institute for Essential Housing was formed to assist young wage earners who cannot afford to buy homes under conventional financing arrangements. The Institute is equipped to finance houses for people with no money down and 100 percent loans, but it does not finance houses for people who have homes. Construction and selling are handled by approximately 500 DEI builders throughout the country.

In this area, authorized builders are The Building Center, Princeton Junction; Wally's Auto Center, Princeton; Penntoy and Sun Economy Enterprises. Freedhold.

The Institute finances homes in three stages of completion designed to suit the budget of the buyer. It can finance a house with most of the work done or a house with a package of materials which the buyer can finish.

Believing that young working men often "mortgage themselves" to buy a house, the institute will sell houses with practically nothing in it, and then find themselves without funds to make the house livable, the Institute discourages the sale of such houses by making a demand that more money be spent for more complete houses.

This applies an effective brake to the exploitation of innocent families who are forced to limit the shell for which they can never complete," says one DEI spokesman.

Houses range from one to two stories, built with an average of 1200 square feet of floor space. Financing up to 12 years is available, with five-year car and extra term life insurance on the house included.

The ad was written for "This Week" magazine and its publication in other

TWO FIRMS MERGE

Henry C. King, Jr., the owner of King-Centerside Quality Co., 21 Princeton-Centerside Street, has merged with the Raynor Corp. of Trenton to form a new real estate and insurance firm.

The new company will retain the name "King-Centerside Quality Co." and the office of R. O'Connor, who has headed the unit of Raynor Realty Co. for a number of years, will remain as executive vice-president of the new firm. He will be in charge of all real estate and insurance transactions.

John J. Condie will head the new firm and will handle the general insurance business. Other officers of the merged concern are Dwight A. Shaw, treasurer, and Margaret Moore, secretary.

KINGSTON AWARDED RID

For Highway Work. Kingston Bituminous Products Company has been awarded the contract for modernizing 18 miles of State Highway 13 in Brumfield Middlesex County. The Kingston bid was $367,707.21. The only other bidder, the New Brothers Co. of Paulsboro, submitted a bid of $473,874.40.

Work at the Pennsylvania Bridge and Construction Co., 101 Avenue in North Branch, and extend to the Route 13 traffic circle. The highway's asphalt center line will be replaced with a 32-inch high concrete center barrier. The existing guard rails will be replaced by steel beam rails. In addition the road will be widened and resurfaced with asphalt concrete.

The work is part of an overall program to modernize the year.

Kone Suggests Code for Auto Salesmen

Lahiere-Kane, Inc., in two advertisements appearing last week in "This Week in OPIC," has launched a campaign to improve the climate of commerce, both generally and specifically.

The Peugeot Agency, a major ad on page 3 of the current issue, proposed that all concerned every industry adopt attitude of friendliness, sincerity and service-oriented sales, and more honest dealing by deserving car dealers.

The proposal is based on "The Straight Pitch," a booklet published by Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan New York, in which it warns car buyers about the pitfalls prepared by unscrupulous car dealers.

ITS 6 THE TIME

In Montgomery Township of Montgomery Township Volunteer Fire Company No 1 will hold a fair in the Belle Mead Field starting next Wednesday.

The fair will run through Saturday, August 12, and will begin at 7 p.m. to midnight each day.

Francis Lawrence is general chairman, even which has been staged each summer for the past 13 years.

HOSPITAL GETS REPORT

From Consultant. Princeton Hospital has received the report from Dr. Nathan Werker, hospital consultant who was retained several months ago by the Hospital to study relations between the Board of Trustees and the Medical Staff and the administration.

The medical staff and the trustees have agreed to refer separately and have agreed unanimously to refer it to the Joint Conference Committee for study and recommendation.

Princeton Hospital spokesmen say that there is no evidence from these preliminary discussions that any agreement between the Board of Trustees, the doctors and the administration.

Operating through a sub-committee headed by Edgar S. Smith, the Joint Conference Committee will submit its recommendations to the trustees on September 25.

FOOTBALL OUTLOOK — III
This is the third in a series of our football preview. Princeton football prepares for 1961.

A look at the lineup. All was well until Dick Colman has the situation confronting him well defined. After losing 16 seniors by graduation and three more by transfer, he must through eligibility, he knows how long and arduous the task of replacing them will be. "Captain," said he dryly, "seem to be constantly faced with 'rebuilding' the team." The 1961 team will be the first in the case of the most genuine rebuilding programs we've had to face several campaigns.

It was a simple matter to rise from the depth of John Cragg, the Oklahoma transfer who cannot play tackle in his last year in college because his citizenship has been denied. Unexpected and unwelcome however, was the departure for academic reasons of the letterman returning at left tackle and the top prospect to fill the gap none had at center. Both were 200-lb seniors who came along very well last fall to back up Stan Baldwin at tackle. Their loss was heavily felt. They had been action in a fourth of the total plays, and would have lent valuable experience to the team. That note can be even grimmer for tackle to tackle.

With both John Cragg and Dick Colman gone, whom combined game action totalled better than 80 percent of the 1960 season among the 16 departed seniors, the question was, can one trouble spot even before Bob Keyes became an academic casualty? His answer from the coach was that with the problem mostly.

Keyes had seen little game action last fall, but had come along steadily in his linkups toward the end of the season and was even top rank among the half dozen candidates to succeed the departed Colman. It may well be several weeks before one of the remaining possibilities gains true validity.

Slow Start Predicted. Colman isn't kidding himself about the "troubles." Princeton will have all the assets of the set

GUARDS FOR THE TIGERS: Captain Ed Wehnermeyer (left) is sure to be a heavy-duty regular in the Princeton lineup this fall. Bill Gueler, last year's freshman captain, is highly regarded by the coaching staff and may become the first sophomore to earn a starting assignment.

Because we will be depending more and more on our reserves, I expect our 1961 team to be a slow starter," he commented.

As usual, the first three options will be Rogers, Colman to repeat last year's record of eleven victories over the first six by option. It will be a major surprise if a triumph over Rutgers would be a major upset.

In mid-season, this is the position run-down, listing possible starters and their two ends:

Ends: Letterman Barry Large (6-3, 190) and Henry Large (6-1, 200) give the Tigers a good two-way option at ends. They will probably be the equals of any pair of ends in the Ivy League.

Howard Schuman will be a pair of 6-2 seniors, Jim Hunter and Allen Zink. Terry Connor, a 6-3 junior who won his letter last year, is the designation for 6-4, 210-lb Bill Howard, rank behind Leland, with Howie a sophomore, tabbed as a real comer.

Tackles: Real trouble here now is that Torrance is out of commission, the designation for 6-4, 210-lb Andy Connor, a 195-lb senior and converted guard as the lone letterman available for this slot.

Bill Wright, a 234-lb junior, may partner with Connor, whose immediate replacement will either be John Dietrich or either 220-lb Ed Dillier or 226-lb Tom Kotsko, the latter an sophomore. Behind Wright are 6-4, 210-lb Jim Schaeffer, 210, and 200-lb John Highland, a pair of juniors. It's as grim a picture at tackle as the Tigers have known in several years.

Guards: Quality but not quantity is the story here. The thinnest line has just started at varsity games. Captain Ed Wehnermeyer has a fine junior, 6-4, 210-lb Bill Gueler, the present use of steady improvement as a senior ahead of him. Dick Lewis, 6-4, 200, a sophomore, is a sophomore last fall, and a promising newcomer, 105-lb Roger Holt, will spell the senior occasionally.

On a basis of experience, junior Tim Callard is given the most at right guard position, but the 21 pounder sophomore Bill Gueler has option on him, plus the latter's high potential, may reverse their variety status. A 160-lb junior,

Roger Holt, 170, a Princeton Country Day School alumnus, is also in the picture while three promising sophomores are being considered as potential Pete Parellis (1951) Corky Hughey (1952) and Hugh MacLellan (1953), the latter a 6-4 runner with the Tigers extreme depth at this vital position.

There is too much rebuilding to do, and inadequate material with which to do it in some cases, for anything short of a major victory to keep Princeton in first division this year. Last fall's 7-2 season was far better than had been expected, and the players who responded so well to make it possible were largely sen-

For Junior Players. Boys and girls who would like to participate in a tennis ladder can sign up in the fall at the new University Courts.
The six divisions are 15 and under, 13 and under, 11 and under, for boys and girls.
Howard Chidlers, a senior at the Theological Seminary, is the chairman, providing tennis groups this summer and Griffin Dix, the High School top varsity tennis coach, will be the junior committee, composed of Debbie Kraft, Karen Smith, Steve James, Jack McCarthy, and Gretchen Taylor.

The ladder will continue through October on an experimental basis, and will be resumed in the spring if successful. Results of the play-offs are posted on the bulletin board at the courts.

Other activities open to junior tennis players are the Philadelphia Cricket Club on Wednesday, August
12, and Saturday with the Girls
National, and the YM-YWCA
Junior round robin tournament
September 5 through 8.

REALTORS AND INSURORS

246 Nassau Street, Princeton

WA 4-5333

On wooded half acre, with small brook in Carnegie School Brook branch with footbridge, six bedrooms and two baths. Lower level with patio to back finished as family room, small deck, sunroom, two baths. Extra large two car garage and basement. $38,500

There are not many homes in the Johnson Park school district, priced below $40,000. One bedroom, one bath, one car garage, on a cul-de-sac with three bedrooms (one down), sunroom, dining room, f/p, truly secluded patio and trees. $28,900

In an elegant area, this sprawling ranch boasts of exceptionally large living rooms, formal dining room, kitchen with bar and fireplace, bay window dining room with Dutch doors to screened porch, sunroom, breakfast room, three lovely bedrooms, and many other quality features. $46,500.

We can't say much about a split level house we have listed before, BUT we can say that the one is priced right. It's a two story, three bedroom, one and a half bath, well landscaped, its three bedrooms, kitchen, dining room and lovely patio would suit a family, and its near Littlebrook school. $28,500

We can't adequately describe this property because it's truly one-of-a-kind. If you want a lot in Princeton, on the water, and can pay $30,000, this is the place to live. It Old Princeton residents particularly would love it.
